LECTURE COURSE.

The next entertainment of the High School Lecture Course will be given on Wednesday, March 4, 1903, on which occasion Miss Myers, the talented reader, will appear in a miscellaneous programme.

The press speaks well of her as will be seen by the following:

Miss Myers possesses a pleasing personality which puts her audience in sympathy with her at once. She is a fine imitator. Her Irish dialect was excellent. She held her audience interested during the hour and a half she read, although unassisted by other entertainment.-Sentinel, Bowling

The entihe seating space of the Board of Trade Auditorium was filled, and Miss Myers held her audience in rapt attention for almost two hours .-Columbus Dispatch.

Miss Myers demonstrated to the arge audience that she is a reader of rare ability. She is perfectly at home on the stage and exhibits the qualities of a true artist. She excels in nature rainess and grace of manner. It is difficult to say where she was the most interesting in her narrative of David Copperfield or in her personstions. - Transcript, Ohio Wesleyan University.
